THORENS SPU 124

Moving Coil Cartridge for TD 124 DD, special version of the famous Ortofon SPU

The THORENS/Ortofon SPU 124 is a special version of the legendary Ortofon SPU sound box, which is designed for optimal scanning behaviour in combination with the THORENS TD 124 DD drive and the newly developed TP 124 tonearm.

The generator, i.e. the “motor” of the pick-up, has been completely revised and the output voltage has been increased to 0.5mV (5cm/sec). This measure reduces the subsequent amplification of the signal and reduces interference. A highly polished, mass-reduced “naked diamond” with an elliptical cut increases the pickup’s scanning ability.

Richard Wagner - Lohengrin: THORENS® Musik | LohengrinSEMYON BYCHKOV

Presented by THORENS® and PROFIL Edition Günter Hänssler. For the first time on vinyl! 5 LPs, 180 g premium vinyl, Best opera recording: BBC Award 2010, Classics today 10/10 rating, Semyon Bychkov - reflections on Lohengrin:

The present recording was made immediately after two concerts recorded in Cologne. However, the origins of this collaboration are extensive years back to concerts in Spain and a new production at the Vienna State Opera. Both projects enabled everyone involved to dig deep into the collective thoughts and experiences immerse themselves in the construction of the cathedral Lohengrin determined. On July 2, 1850, Wagner wrote in one Letter to Liszt: “Give the opera as it is, don’t delete anything!” In accordance with this wish the work was performed and recorded in its entirety.

A Tribute to a Legend TD 124 DD

Dear distributor,

I very much hope that this album with 13 of my personal favourite tracks will bring you a lot of listening pleasure. The choice of tracks is very personal – they have accompanied me over long periods of my private and professional life. Recordings from the 70s, 80s and 90s, but also very recent productions, because an interest in and enthusiasm for music doesn't just stop at some point. Especially not if you can enjoy it with the very best hi-fi technology.

This album is intended to celebrate music reproduction in general – and one record player in particular: the TD-124 is, for me, the epitome of everything that makes Thorens so unique, admirable and desirable. For me, it was the start of a decades-long passion that culminated a few years ago in my taking the brand completely into my own hands.

Many of the tracks on this album are ones you may never have heard before. And not all of them meet the most modern recording standards. Put aside your hi-fi expectations for a moment and let me take you on a journey through my record collection. Discover the sonic peculiarities and moods that await discovery from track to track. Because what really good players do best is not to imprint a certain sound on all CD's – no matter how pleasant it may be. What distinguishes top drives is their ability to magnify contrasts, to allow each recording to be individual and to underscore this.

You'll discover great test tracks: we've emphasised authentic timbres and the greatest possible dynamics during mastering, and not every one of the 13 tracks will sound equally optimal on every player. What you can expect is exciting music, lots of variety – even if the basic genre is "jazz" in the broadest sense – and always a bit of a technical as well as a musical challenge. Possibly followed by another exciting undertaking: all 13 tracks, of course, are taken from complete original albums which still exist. Not all of them are easy to find (or cheap) – but all are worthwhile!

The best player in the world is worth nothing without good music. I'd be hugely pleased if this album could spark a new growth spurt in your record collection.

Sincerely yours,
Gunter Kürten

New Reference

Dear Music Enthusiast,

More than two years have passed since our last Thorens LP, and we haven't been idle in the meantime. The TD124, to which we dedicated "Tribute To A Legend," remains extremely popular – most recently as a limited edition for our brand's 140th anniversary. Indeed, Thorens was founded in 1883 in Sainte-Croix, Switzerland. A significant part of our company's history has been dedicated to perfecting vinyl playback while making it accessible and affordable for any serious music listener.

We've devoted "New Reference" to a passion project where we've consciously excluded the affordable aspect: The Thorens New Reference. The most elaborate turntable in Thorens' history aims to provide a deeper, more precise insight into new and old records using new technologies being applied to HiFi for the first time. You can buy this turntable, but it costs what it costs: Price was not a criterion during its development. For us, the New Reference serves as a development tool from which our more affordable players will also benefit. And it must handle ordinary records pressed in 1960, 1980, 2000, or 2020, anytime within the 100-year history of the medium.

You will find a timespan of about 60 years represented on this double album: The oldest productions were created in 1960, at the beginning of the stereo era. The newest only a few years ago. For the selection of tracks, I extensively rummaged through my private vinyl collection, combining old favorites and newer listening test highlights into a very personal but also, I believe, generally agreeable mix. You will unmistakably hear that I have a certain penchant for soul. I've included some tracks simply because they are otherwise so hard to find on vinyl. This includes Inger Marie Gundersen's "Let It Be Me": It's hard to believe that, apart from an initial mini-edition, there was no other pressing of the associated album "Make This Moment."

At least now, this track is available again on fresh vinyl. As always, our audiophile friends at in-akustik ensured first-class mastering and superb pressing quality. Therefore, I am very confident in wishing you a lot of enjoyment and pleasure listening to this album: You will have it.

THORENS TAB 1600 Absorber Base

The Thorens Absorber Base TAB1600 was specially developed for the improved set-up of turntables. The base plate made of MDF, which is additionally dampened by a fabric layer, is made with an acoustic foam in a sandwich construction. This unique combination highly efficiently decouples the turntable from its surface and thus prevents acoustic feedback. Contrary to the principle of coupling through spikes, which often negatively affects the sound quality through vibration coupling to the ground, we use the principle of decoupling with the TAB1600 in order to keep negative influences from structure-borne noise away from the turntable.
